Hi fella.

You're not far from Farnham are you? And you're unemployed so spend days and days kicking your heels... am I right? :D

How do you fancy having a look at the general mechanical condition of a GT4 for me?

Well goes without saying!

I'll speak to the guy tonight, I want some evidence of cambelt change, clutch condition / change, so I'll find out where he is exactly and get in touch.

Main thing is no knocking / clunking from front end at full lock / over speed humps etc.

Warn the guy that he'll get it back with an oily rag and a spanner in it :D

On the plus side you know he will find any oil leaks, as oil is attracted to Tony :lol:

That's right kick a blok. When he's down.

A pit with oil on his head. :D

Tony, has your phone blown up?!?!

Tried ringing but just got weird sounds of crackles.

Will PM the guys details to you. It only has a month of MOT left but he said he'll put it through an MOT before I deal.

Hahahaha, could be! It had that 'whooshy' kind of sound electronics make when full of water.

Seem to have lost his moby number...

Did you get my PM mate? Chap's gonna try and book a MOT tomorrow, but if you dont mind getting in touch, you could give me a warm feeling about it / or tell me to run away fast! :D

If I do have it, it will be next weekend, so I'll swing by for a cuppa / let you have a blast anyway.

Tony, did you manage to make contact? Will you be able to have a look?

He's MOT'ing it on thursday, which gives me a warmer feeling about it...
