Some time back, I built a rudimentary veg filtering setup.

It consists of a top tank where you pour your SETTLED waste veg, with a drain into 1" pipe. Then there's a tap (so you can turn it off to change filters) and more pipe into two filter cannisters like these below but clear...

... the pipe out of the filters goes into a bottom tank near the top, and that tank has a tap on it so you can drain your cleaned veg into handy containers.

The filter cartridges will need replacing (I used a 50 micron followed by a 10 micron) but they're only cheap off ebay. The tanks are clear storage boxes with lids to keep small animals and dust out, and they hold about 80 litres if memory serves!

If anyone wants to come and get this lot, you can have it for the price of a few beers!

I,m heading up to Chatsworth House in the middle of march and if its not too bulky I should be able to fit it in the back of the Surf with the other gear,if thats any use.

It's not that bulky. Could probably all be boxed into one of the tanks.

One is staying at Chatsworth House 16-19 March so if it can be picked up from there we're getting it towards Si.

Brummie

PS. One forgot to say one is staying at the Caravan Club site at Chatsworth
:whistle: :whistle: :D :D :D

Just had a thought, im off to avalanche this year so if anyones going past apache's place maybe they could bob in on the way past.

How many beers are you after apache, 12, 24 a keg :D

Also if i can arrange for it to be picked up is it ok for you to hold it for me or are you wanting the space?

If wales run comes first, I should be able to pick it up when i drop you home :)

I should have enough space to store it for a few weeks

That would be great fella's, now how do i get the beers to you. :D

If growler would be so kind as to get you your favorite tipple then i would reimburse him on arrival at avalanche + his own comission of course.

Telling a Yorkshireman to use his own discretion on deciding payment... Hmmmm... Have you thought of asking one of the Scot's to safeguard the contents of your drinks cabinet too?

Only just noted where he's from.

Beer up front!
