Whilst repairing my speedo i broke the LED off that is connected to my alarm.
Its a tricolour 5mm thingy, need to get new one but cannot find any reference to what rating it was. Searched everywhere for Sigma S32 alarm details and nothing.

Would one of these do <http://www.maplin.co.uk> ?????

Hey Paul. Sigma are in Chorley, near me. Try ringing them (Scorpion Automotive) on 01257 249928. Whe I spoke to them about a hand book for my alarm, they were very helpful.....

Won't give details out cus i am not in the trade..... won't even give specs of LED to the trade.....
you have to buy the LED connected to the specific loom and guess what they won't give me a price cus i am not in the trade..... must be their time of month....

Will call and see local installation guys, who are in the trade, on me way home.
They helped me with celica alarm before

Jeez, Mate! Their aftersales care ethos has taken a bit of a tumble!

Yes, those LEDs will work.

There's nothing special about alarm LEDs, the flashing is controlled by the alarm unit, the LED is on the end of a flying lead.

Off to maplins to spend £1.14 later.... going to mount it from the rear..... awaits smutty reply..... thus allowing future dash removal without damage to new LED.....

Cheers guys
