

View the complete version: Need!

Posted by: Bushwhacker
Date: 18-12-2011 15:33:03

A copy of Microsoft office and it's installation code, mine is all scratched and won't install properly.
Can someone help me please? I need Word and Excel mainly. Oh and it's for Vista.
Fanx! :compwave:

Posted by: Growler
Date: 18-12-2011 16:33:39

Do you want 2007 or 2003 ? :)

Posted by: Bushwhacker
Date: 18-12-2011 16:38:21

Which ever is the best/easiest version to use mate. It'll be a fresh install.
It's for my HRMC stuff. :whistle:

Posted by: Growler
Date: 18-12-2011 18:36:39

PM me your address and i'll get a copy in the post asap

Posted by: Bushwhacker
Date: 18-12-2011 19:33:12

PM'd. :)

Posted by: BigBobE
Date: 18-12-2011 21:04:58

vince if your online drop me a pm here, i have a 70mb portable version of office here i can upload for you... word excel and outlook...

oh office 2003 btw, no codes needed...

Posted by: BigBobE
Date: 18-12-2011 21:06:53

Office 2003

Posted by: Growler
Date: 18-12-2011 22:38:19

Full copy of both in post tomorrow :)

Posted by: Albannach
Date: 19-12-2011 00:56:21

2003 is easier, I can't get my head round 2007/10...

Posted by: Growler
Date: 19-12-2011 20:09:46

Agree with Andy on this but 2007 looks neater when you are used to it

Package on the way

Posted by: Bushwhacker
Date: 19-12-2011 20:51:39

 Growler wrote:

Agree with Andy on this but 2007 looks neater when you are used to it

Package on the way

Thanks very much Andy.

It's for the wife's laptop, it had office 2007 on it when we bought it but every time you try and use it, it asks for the pass code. Enter the pass code supplied with the laptop and it still won't open it!!

The CD I have thats damaged is 2003 which is what we're used to. :)

Posted by: Bushwhacker
Date: 04-01-2012 22:03:44

 BigBobE wrote:

Office 2003

Sorry Bob, I missed this post.
Thanks anyway. :)

Posted by: BigBobE
Date: 04-01-2012 22:16:09

no worries, its a handy small size, with all the functionality of the full office....